"Two roads diverged in a wood, and I —
I took the one less traveled by,
And that has made all the difference."
— Robert Frost

Cafeteria baby with a camera not 'teaching' but ...

Two roads may diverge,
but to do so,
they must first have a common point.
Our common point
is Manual.
From it,
we branch out into our own special fields of interests.

"How do I know today what's right for me tomorrow?"

"... Our common point is Manual

"... when we are able to use what we have learned ..."

"To understand is hard.
Once one understands, action is easy."
- Sun Yatsen

"Sometimes I get so depressed, all I can ask is 'why?'"

Manual's primary purpose is "education of heart, hand, and mind."
At the time we take
many of our courses,
though,
it seems that they are nothing but a waste of time.
It is only when we finally understand and are able to use what we have learned that it becomes meaningful.

"If I knew where to begin,
I could.
But, my mind wanders . . ."

"I was kind of embarrassed carrying the sign, but the game was fun."

"... beyond the stage and into the arena."

"The real character of a man Is found out by his amusements."
— Sir Joshua Reynolds

"Marching-season practice is tough, but it's worthwhile when we perform well."

The education of heart, hand, and mind extends beyond the regular school hours into the afternoon and evening.
Clubs, sports,
and mainly people,
"educate" our hearts
and hands

by developing and expanding our personalities.
Even though these activities are for amusement,
they still carry responsibilities which we have to be able to accept.

"I get so tired when running.
But it's worth it!"

France Ready For

"... to speak out on what we feel is right ..."

POLIS STAR

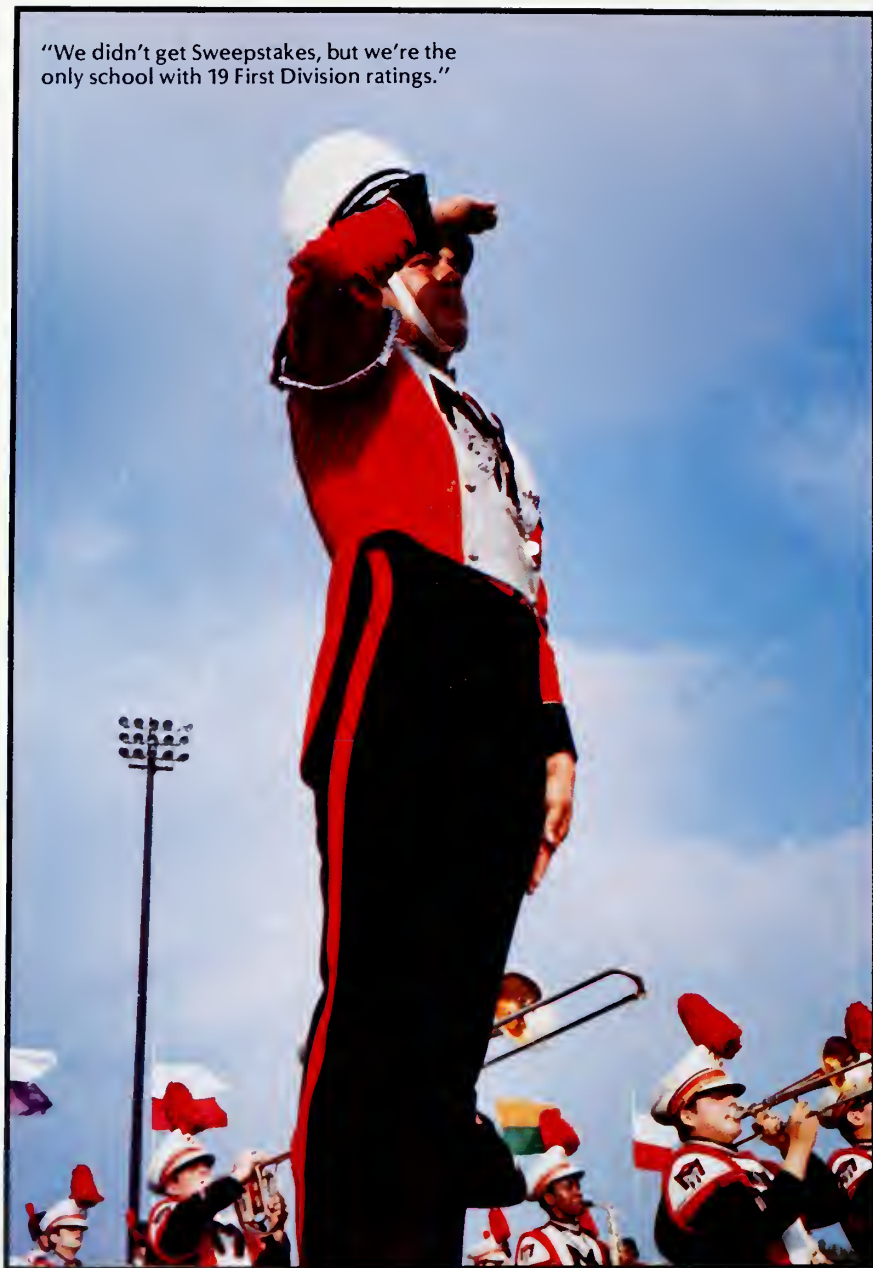

"Speak what we feel,
Not what we ought to say."
-William Shakespeare

Responsibilities
can get us into trouble
—sometimes they are contrary to what we believe in.
So,
the question arises
of whether to speak out on what we feel
is right, or,
to keep silent about something we are not sure of.
The means of expressing our views are varied. But, because we can think
and act, they are also unique.

"We didn't get Sweepstakes, but we're the only school with 19 First Division ratings."

"The disappointment of defeat"

"There are some defeats More triumphant than victories."
— Michel de Montaigne

"I've never been in first place — but I've never been last, either."

Though our thought-action processes
did not always make us
"number one,"
they did give us something in common — other than
our "common point,"
Manual.

The disappointment of defeat
and the hugging, screaming, and jumping involved in winning were felt by all
on many occasions
— even if only for a moment.

"You have to be trusted before you are liked."

"A smile is the first thing I notice in a person."

"... we are still individuals."

"The only way to have a friend,
Is to be one."

-Ralph Waldo Emerson

"Friends make life worthwhile."

Even when we are united in a common feeling, we are still individuals.

Manual is individuals — 2600 completely different people
with their own friends, hopes, and fears.
The 1973 Ivian
can be interpreted 2600 different ways;
it is a yearbook for Manual's
many individuals.

"Friends — you like them, and they like you."

Homecoming Crowd Leaves Wet and Disappointed

The steady rain pouring on Homecoming night left football players' numbers indistinguishable, candidates dripping wet, and Homecoming mums in pieces. But the fans — many of them alums — had undampened spirits until the fourth quarter when the Redskins lost a 20-6 lead over Roncalli.

Homecoming was an uncertainty all week because of the teachers' strike. But, by Thursday, Homecoming became a reality and everyone involved was able to rehearse. On Friday afternoon, though, the rain started and continued on through halftime.

So as not to ruin their uniforms, the band marched over from school for the halftime crowning only. They performed part of their contest show, "Salute to Irving Berlin," while candidates and escorts were presented.

After Principal Howard Thrall crowned King Randy Johnson and Queen Jennie Andrews, Sophomore Tim Baker, accompanied by the band and Girls' Glee Club, sang "Queen of Manual High" and "Girl of My Dreams."

Randy and Jennie, who were both "freezing cold and soaking wet," sat on the Key Club float under a big umbrella for part of the remainder of the game.

P-TA Supports Redskins With Heap Big Money

Parents became involved in school activities this year through Manual's Parent-Teacher Association and Dads Club. These organizations contributed time, talents, and money to help Manual be a better school.

Football games just wouldn't have been as fun without the refreshment stands which sold "snacks" to help keep fans warm and filled with energy food.

Dads Club members also contributed to basketball fun with its refreshment stands. Dads passed out programs that aided fans in identifying players.

The P-TA has many projects it supports every year. The Annual Scholarship Fund aided several college-bound Manual students. P-TA funds also helped students participating in various summer institutes such as journalism and student council.

Fun and fund raising are the ideas behind the annual Pow Wow sponsored by the P-TA. Student groups cooperated with booths for this annual spring event.

North Central Association Rates Manual

The North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools evaluated Manual this year. Preparation for this began last spring, when teachers filled out self-evaluation forms and a committee of faculty updated the philosophy of the school. These reports were turned in to NCA.

From November 7-10, a North Central team of eighteen educators from around the state visited Manual to make an "eyewitness" evaluation of the school. The team observed classes in all departments on Wednesday to evaluate instruction. On Thursday, the team met with a cross section of students to discuss Manual's strong and weak points and to ask for their ideas for improvements.

On Friday, the visitors wrote their evaluation taking into consideration reports from teachers and their own observations and interviews.

Later in the Year, Manual received a copy of the report and recommendations for improvement.

American Education Week 'Strikes' Out

American Education Week, October 23-27, was disrupted in Indianapolis by a teacher strike.

The teachers claimed salary raises and smaller classes as the main reasons. After negotiations between the Indianapolis Education Association (IEA) and the School Board failed, many of the city teachers voted to strike until a compromise was reached.

The strike began Thursday, October 19, with teachers picketing schools and the Education Center downtown. Manual, along with many other city schools, was forced to close.

Judge John Niblack issued a temporary injunction to stop teachers from striking on Friday. By Monday, teachers had voted to resume the strike on Tuesday. Some teachers who defied the restraining order and struck on Tuesday, were arrested.

Manual closed on Tuesday, but was able to open for the rest of that week. However, Turnabout Day and Open House were canceled.

Judge Niblack became arbitrator in the IEA-School Board talks, producing an agreeable contract, ending the strike.

Randy Ritter Elected President in Manual Musical

John P. Wintergreen and his one-word platform, "Love," were unanimously elected to the Presidency by Manual High School students.

"Of Thee I Sing" was the annual musical produced by the Music Department. The story was of a presidential candidate, "swept into the White House on a tidal wave of love." Senior Randy Ritter portrayed this unusual president and Senior Jenny Shoemake co-starred as the sweet and innocent Mary Turner, his secretary, and later the First Lady of the United States.

The story involved a "jilted blossom of the South," Miss Diana Devereaux, Senior Lynn Janke. Butch Krodel added extra comedy as the fuddle-brained vice-president, Alexander Throttlebottom.

What seemed to be a "simple" story of love, marriage, and the White House, turned into an international incident because of the "neglected" beauty contest winner, who was of French descent.

Problems set in because of the teacher strike and other complications, stopping rehearsals before they were started. This eventually led to a postponement from the original dates of November 17-18, to November 30 and December 1.

Many cast members practiced musical numbers in their music classes as well as every night at rehearsals. Mr. Tom Williams, Choir Director, was the musical co-ordinator and director. Director of Productions Fred Bennett, assisted by Junior Karen O'Connor, led stage rehearsals. Mr. Dan Bolen and the Pit Orchestra accompanied.

The Musical opened with a weak start on Thursday night, but the cast rallied for a much better performance on Saturday evening.

20/Redskin Revue

Revue Format

Redskin Revue 1973 surprised audiences with its many changes. Some of the revisions were reducing the number of acts from four to three and having an all-casts' party where awards were presented.

The theme of the show, "Rivers Around the World," was introduced on both Friday and Saturday nights by "Best Choreographer" Brenda Huckleba and the Redskin Revue chorus line who saluted America's greatest river, the Mississippi. Acts, centered around the Seine, Thames, and Snake Rivers, followed.

"Is Anyone Seine Around Here," written by Sandy Holmes and John Masengale, boasted award winners Tim Baker, "Best Male Vocalist," and Lynn Janke, "Best Actress."

Winners from Mark Shives and Gary Mills' act, "The Taming of the Thames," were Nancy Ellis, "Vignette Award," Charles Wolfe, "Best Actor," Mark Shives, "Best

Comic Portrayal," and "Merlin's Maids," "Best-Presented Chorus Line."

The final act, "Wild Buffalo, You Dirty Old Medicine Man," written by David Sease and Debbie Wood, was chosen "Best Act." Other individual winners from the act were Karen O'Connor, "Best Female Vocalist," and the "Bannockettes." "Best Precision Chorus Line." All awards were given at the party.

English Teachers Strive to Individualize Instruction

Redskins spend one period each semester for three years getting in their required English, and many also elect Speech, Humanities, and Etymology, plus English VII and VIII.

New to the English Department was a "team teaching" class in English I. Freshmen were divided into three groups according to ability. They studied Composition, Short Story, or Reading and Mechanical Skills for a six weeks' period, then switched classes. The purpose of this Adapted Team Teaching, according to Mrs. Marilyn McCloud, one of those involved, was to "innovate techniques allowing concentration in one area of English at a time and to group freshmen by ability."

Mr. Michael Coffman's IIIg class incorporated a 9-week independent study program involving research and group discussions on a literary period of a country. Mrs. Jane Gable's IIIg class studied various aspects of Journalism.

Students found adequate facilities in the library. In addition to numerous books and magazines, the library offered many audio-visual aids such as film strips.

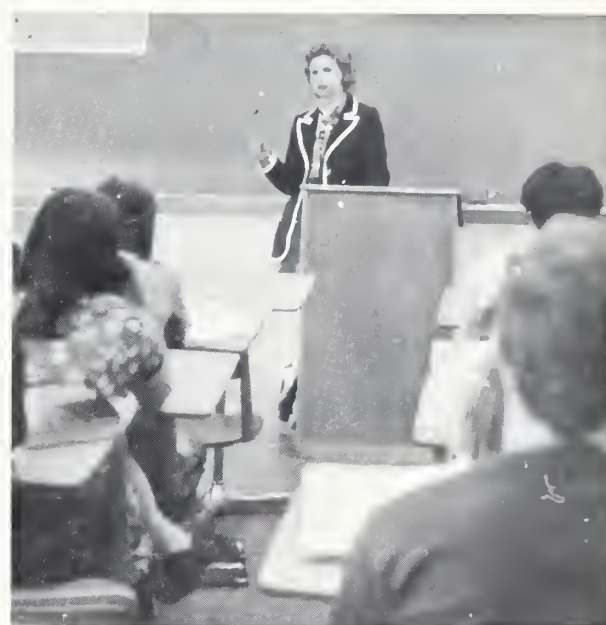

A new item in the library was a Dukane listening station where as many as 16 persons can watch a film strip simultaneously. Other new additions were small screens for individual study and a growing collection of three-minute technicolor films.

Social Studies, New Language Broaden World

World History, Civics, and Metropolitan Problems were the electives showing the highest enrollment in the Social Studies Department this year.

On Election Day, November 7, pupils in all Social Studies classes participated in a mock election. The winners tallied with national results.

Mr. Don Harmon's government classes took a field trip to the State Legislature. Metropolitan Problems classes also went on field trips. International Relations students representing simulated countries warred against each other, adding to their discussion of war maneuvers.

The Exploratory Teacher group, sponsored by Miss Margaret Conso-dine, had a larger enrollment than groups in other city schools. Twenty-eight seniors "tried their hands" at teaching, some with Manual freshmen others with grade school kids.

New ideas were dreamed up in the Foreign Language Department this year. Department Head Carsey Gentry proposed language mini courses in French, Spanish, and Latin for language students. Courses in conversational Spanish for non-college-bound students were also part of the plan.

Summer '72 found two language students, Lynn Janke and Steve Nix, studying and traveling with Spanish Hononors Programs.

These programs are offered to juniors to further fluency in their "second language." Being college material, the selection tests are difficult. If a participant becomes a finalist, he must "pass" personal interviews.

Lynn spent ten weeks in Mexico while Spain was Steve's destination. Both lived with local families studied in classroom situations, and spoke only Spanish.

Modern Times Keep Science, Math

ABOVE — Geri DeHoff assists Department Head Ronald Parke in one of his classes. Because of large class size, students were used to aide teachers in grading papers and helping in classes.

TOP — Britt Dickinson works an equation in his math class. All students are required to take one year of a math course.

The Math and Science Departments have always been linked because both are really sciences. Math is really the science of numbers. These numbers, their functions, and formulas were studied in the various classes offered by the Math Department.

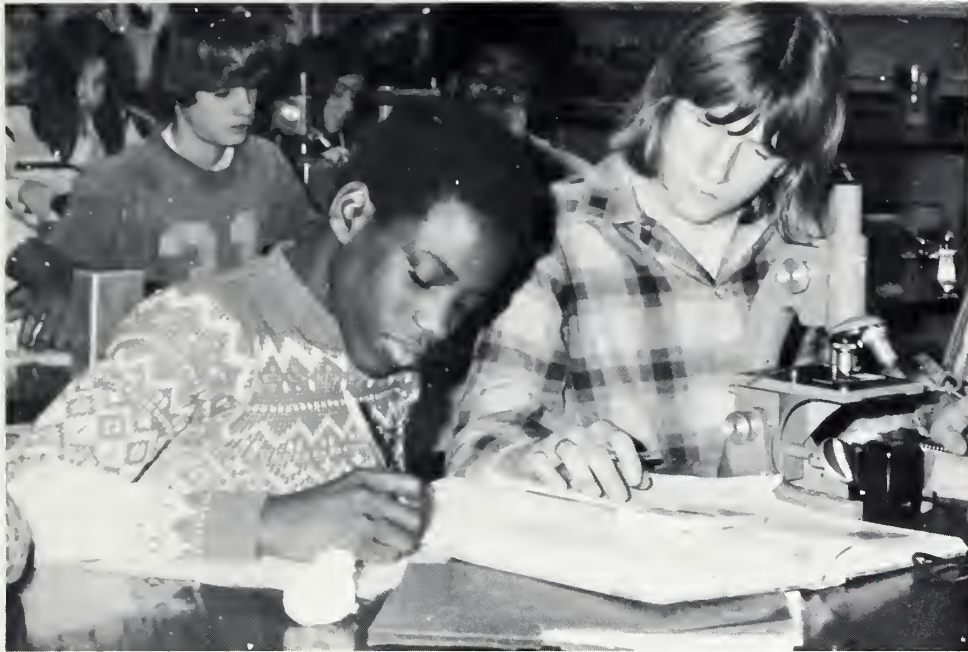

Even though only one year of math is required for graduation, many students continue their study with geometry, algebra, trigonometry and calculus.

This year, teacher losses and class cancellations hurt the Math Department. The number of students enrolled in classes remained the same, but teachers were cut. The result was crowded classes and individuals receiving less attention. Student assistants were employed to help teachers with the grading of tests and homework papers.

Energy, chemicals, microscopic cells, and atoms were discovered by many Manualities through the Science Department.

Students gained scientific knowledge from teacher lectures, filmstrips, and experiments, along with their textbooks.

Since science courses were double period, students had a chance to work in labs. The experiments provided a way for students to find out for themselves the structure of an animal, or the reaction of chemicals.

Math and Science again collaborated with Physics, a class combining both sciences. The course was taught by Mr. Stephen Sharpee.

Original Ideas, Skill Develop in Art, Music

Macreme, jeweled rings, rug-hooking, pottery, and self-portraits occupied students in Art.

In Art, abstracts and sketches were done with water color, oil, acrylics, chalk, and pencils. Curved mirrors, cut pictures, and live models aided in creating pictures, some of which won awards in different contests.

Craft Arts was a popular elective course. A ceramic and enamel kiln, and a potter's wheel were available for pottery. Students also enjoyed copper enameling, sculpturing, and paper mache.

Art Appreciation covered the characteristics of art periods, history of artists, styles and modes in art, and modern art through colored slides and lectures.

Many musical Manualities were often heard in the halls singing, whistling or humming songs after their vocal and instrumental music classes were finished.

Hundreds of students were enrolled in one of more of these courses which provided enjoyment and developed musical talents.

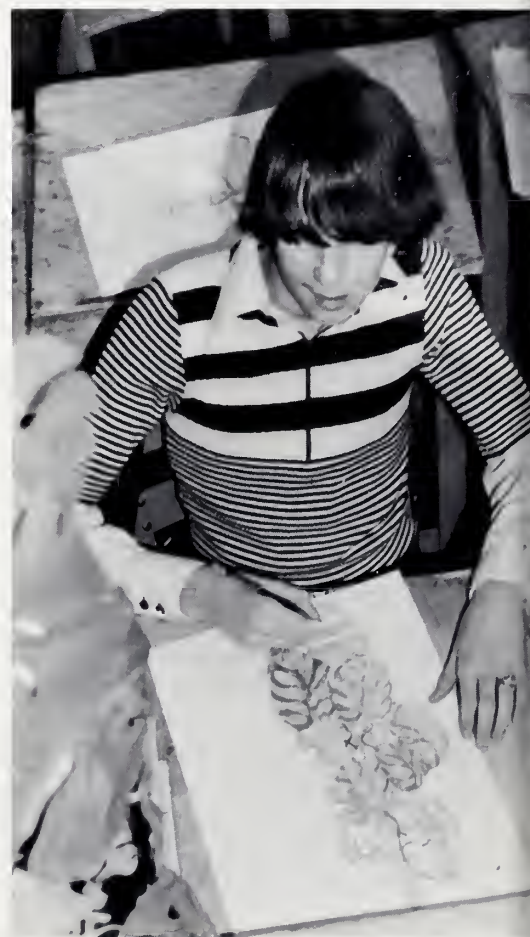

The Keyboard class utilized the new theater pipe organ, purchased from the Crescent Hill Baptist Church in Louisville, Kentucky last October. The class also offered piano lessons.

Histories of composers and development of music styles interested students in Music Appreciation, also new this year.

Separate classes for beginning brasswinds and woodwinds were also in the new music curriculum.

"Sightsinging is one of the most difficult techniques in Music Theory," said Junior Tom Pinner. His class learned basic chord fundamentals which made composing music easier later on.

Our Redskin marching Band, under the direction of Drum Major Jay Doty, won its nineteenth consecutive First Division in the IHSMA Band Contest in October.

'Practice Makes Perfect' Helps Students Work

A foods class is one place where the "fruits of labor" can actually be tasted, as those enrolled found out. Advanced Foods classes both prepared and served several faculty luncheons this year. In many classes, interior decorating and budgeting were also studied and the girls went on field trips.

"I didn't like wearing the hair nets, but I did learn a lot about cooking," commented one girl enrolled in a Foods class.

Besides learning to construct garments, clothing classes performed School Service sewing. They repaired drapes, athletic equipment, and helped make some costumes for school plays.

Guest speakers this year included representatives from the Child Abuse Center, Planned Parenthood, a police chaplain, and an interior decorator. All helped make Home Ec classes a big success.

Last year Manual began a class called Distributive Education, or "DE" for short. This year, DE had a new teacher, Miss Sue Workman, and new equipment. Enthusiasm on the part of the students and the teacher made this class both enjoyable and productive. Those who took Distributive Ed. attended a classroom session and then left after fifth period to offices where they received "on the job" training. Special speakers also spoke to the class several times on jobs and business.

Each year, Manual turns out many graduates who are prepared for the "Cruel" world through their knowledge from the Business Department. Typing, Shorthand, and Filing are offered to those who aspire to be secretaries.

Shop Grooms Students for Jobs, Provides Training for Daily Use

Preparing for a future in industry or construction, or gaining practical experience in general repairs — that's what Industrial Arts is all about, and it's also the reason for its popularity.

Drawing classes range from Mechanical drawing to Machine and Architectural drawing. These prepare student for the other shop classes or possibly for careers in architecture or engineering.

Pre-vocational Education, new this year, is a course which supplies the requirements for applying for and maintaining a job. The goal of PVE is to shape individuals into "productive members of society."

The Industrial Arts Department is responsible for many repairs around the school. Broken desks or cafeteria tables are repaired by the welding classes. The Print Shop prepares many office forms that are used daily.

For students not wishing to follow a career in any shop area, the shop classes furnish information they can use every day.

Exercise for Credit, Fun; Women's Lib Hits ROTC

"The boys really enjoy archery!" Coach Al Pike said when asked about the new event offered in boys' gym classes this year. Some 60 boys a semester got a chance to learn this new skill.

Several basic maneuvers in gymnastics and wrestling were learned by the boys in two six weeks' sessions. A triple course was offered which included weight lifting, ping-pong, and paddle ball, resembling tennis on a smaller scale.

An indoor track and field meet for the boys' gym classes was scheduled to give track coaches a chance to "scout" for new prospects.

Girls' Physical Education courses ranged from field events such as soccer, touch football, kickball, and baseball, to the indoor sports of basketball, tumbling, gymnastics, and modern dancing.

Due to the large class sizes of most of the girls' classes, instruction for sports such as badminton, pingpong, and tennis was given, but actual playing was difficult if not impossible.

Written reports and tests were done by the students as part of their grades along with having actual skill in the sports.

Giving a "taste of military life" to some 160 cadets, was the aim of the ROTC program. This year, the corps went "co-ed." Girls were allowed in the ranks for the first time. They had the same privileges and duties as the male corpsmen.

The cadets provided school service duties such as serving as honor guards at various school functions like ball games, commencement, and dramatic productions. By doing these things, they learned discipline and responsibility in addition to being helpful to Manual.

Masoma, Roines Co-operate but Continue 'Rivalry'

Masoma and Roines Clubs continued the traditional "rivalry" between them but did combine for several parties, including a Halloween costume party and Christmas caroling in the rain and another party.

Both Roines and Masoma pledged seniors during the first semester and Roines also pledged three Seniors the second semester.

Roines sponsored three Romsps this year. The second one, March 9, was a "Fifties Dance." Prizes were awarded to the boy and girl best dressed in the mode of the '50's. To publicize the dance, a "Fifties Day" was proclaimed. Nostalgia came in the form of bobby socks, pony tails, long skirts, saddle oxfords, and baggy pants. "I think having the '50's theme really improved interest in the Romp," said Roines President Roger Carroll. Featured at the Romp, in addition to the rock group BAJ, was "Snake and the Car Thieves," a "backup group" composed of Roines members Bill McDaniel, Gary Mills, Mark Shives, and Jeff Farley. They sang songs of the '50's during BAJ's intermission.

Masomas again put together the Homecoming mums. Meeting at Madson Avenue Florists one evening, they glued red "M's" to the flowers and tied red-and-white streamers to the stems. "It didn't take long to put them together, but that glue took forever to get off my hands!" said President Rowena Bush. "We lost money on the mums this year. Because of the teacher strike, we didn't have any time for advance sales so we ended up selling some mums at the game," added Treasurer Donna Laetsch.

Masomas also clothed a child at Christmas and served at the Alumni banquet. All girls agreed the banquet was "hard work" and not as fun as they thought it would be. Roines checked coats at the Alumni banquet.

School Honors, Government, Fun Belong to All

Four groups within Manual work to provide honors, student government, and fun for many Manualites.

National Honor Society added 27 seniors and 16 juniors to the 10 carry-over members from last year. These new members were announced on March 15 and inducted May 6.

Student Affairs Board met each month and invited speakers from around school to talk on school matters. Mr. John Krueger, Honor Society sponsor, spoke to the group about how students are chosen for this national honorary.

The stage crew spent much of the year reassembling the pipe organ purchased from the Louisville Crescent Hill Baptist Church. Time was also spent building sets for two three-act plays, the musical, and the three Redskin Revue acts. A box set was constructed to use for the play, "The Two Mrs. Carrolls."

Radio Club members learned about broadcasting by disc-jockeying dances such as the Ivian-sponsored "Pic Parade." They also promoted a yo-yo contest, which was won by Sophomore Roy Holland.

Thespians and Mask and Wig Club combined to present many plays during the year. The first of these was "Charley's Aunt," a comedy. The play dealt with two young men, Charley and Jack, who were in love and invited their girl friends and an aunt to tea. Charley's aunt could not come, though, so a friend posed as her. The plot was complicated further when the real aunt showed up and played along in the charade, fooling everyone.

After Christmas, the Mask and Wig Club presented two one-act plays, directed by Thespians Kathy Wakefield and David Sease. The club also presented "Ferdinand and the Dirty Knight," a children's play, for nearby grade schools.

In February, "The Two Mrs. Carrolls," directed by Mrs. Linda Hammond, played on Manual's stage. The murder-mystery featured an artist, Geoffrey Carroll, who was divorced from one woman, married to another, and in love with a third. He had tried to kill his first wife until she finally divorced him, and was attempting to poison his second wife, Sally. Sally refused to believe what was happening until the first wife, Harriet, told her story. When Sally realized what was really happening, Geoffrey needed to kill her instantly.

The police arrived as he was trying to strangle Sally. To escape arrest, he drank poison.

Choir, Orchestra Collaborate in Concert, Win Individual Honors

Some fifty-four vocalists comprised the 1972-73 Concert Choir, directed by Mr. Thomas G. Williams and accompanied by Senior Mike McKay. This choral group's yearly activities included the musical, Christmas program and carolling at grade schools, Choir-Orchestra Concert, All-City Choir Festival, May Music Festival, and Vespers.

The Choir concentrated each day on improving breathing techniques and vowel enunciation, both important in achieving a full sound through good individual quality.

The group practiced and performed both classical and modern compositions.

With its new director, Mr. Daniel P. Bolin, this year's orchestra took on a new perspective. "I have found the students talented and willing to work," said Mr. Bolin.

The 22 strings and 36 winds practiced twice a week during concert season, preparing for such performances as the musical, Choir-Orchestra Concert, May Music Festival and Vespers.

Music Department

The musical talents of many Manualites shone through again this year by their participation in various performing groups, contests, and musical activities.

Many of these groups which are selected sections from Band, Orchestra, Choir, or Glee Club, performed at activities where smaller groups were necessary.

Pep Band, consisting of members of the Band, roused school spirit for fans and players, at all the home basketball games.

LEFT: This instrumental ensemble consisting of Phyllis Yocum, Randall Borkes, Phillip Herbig, Tom Pinner, and Linda Thompson won a First Division in the district and regional contests of the Indiana State Music Association and advanced to the state finals.

Provides 'All-Occasion' Music

Stage productions, like the musical and Redskin Revue, needed instrumental accompaniment, so the Music Department supplied the needed background. Having the sound of an orchestra, Pit Orchestra has more strings and fewer winds than Stage Band. Now a class, Stage Band also played for the Pow Wow's Variety Show.

Manual music students achieved eighteen First Divisions and twenty-one Second Divisions at the Indiana State Music Association District

Contest. This contest was comprised of singing and instrumental soloists and ensembles. Those achieving First Divisions went on to State competition.

A string ensemble from the Orchestra, called Chamber Orchestra, entered the ISMA Contest and rated a First. They also performed at the Choir-Orchestra Concert.

Manualaires and Glee-ettes, top singers from Choir and Glee Club, entertained for club meetings in the community, and for the P-TA.

Band, Girls' Glee Club Perform in Rain, on Stage

Dedication? That's a familiar word to members of Manual's Marching Band and Girls' Glee Club. While everyone else huddled in the stands watching Homecoming events under umbrellas and blankets, the Band and Glee Club performed in the drizzle. At every home game, the Band members performed their latest feats — sunbursts, pinwheels, and regular marching routines — capturing the eyes of both the home crowd and visitors.

This year, the Marching Band won its nineteenth consecutive First in the Indiana High School Music Association's contest.

Playing for the home basketball games, the Pep Band instilled enthusiasm in the tight situations and got the crowd on its feet.

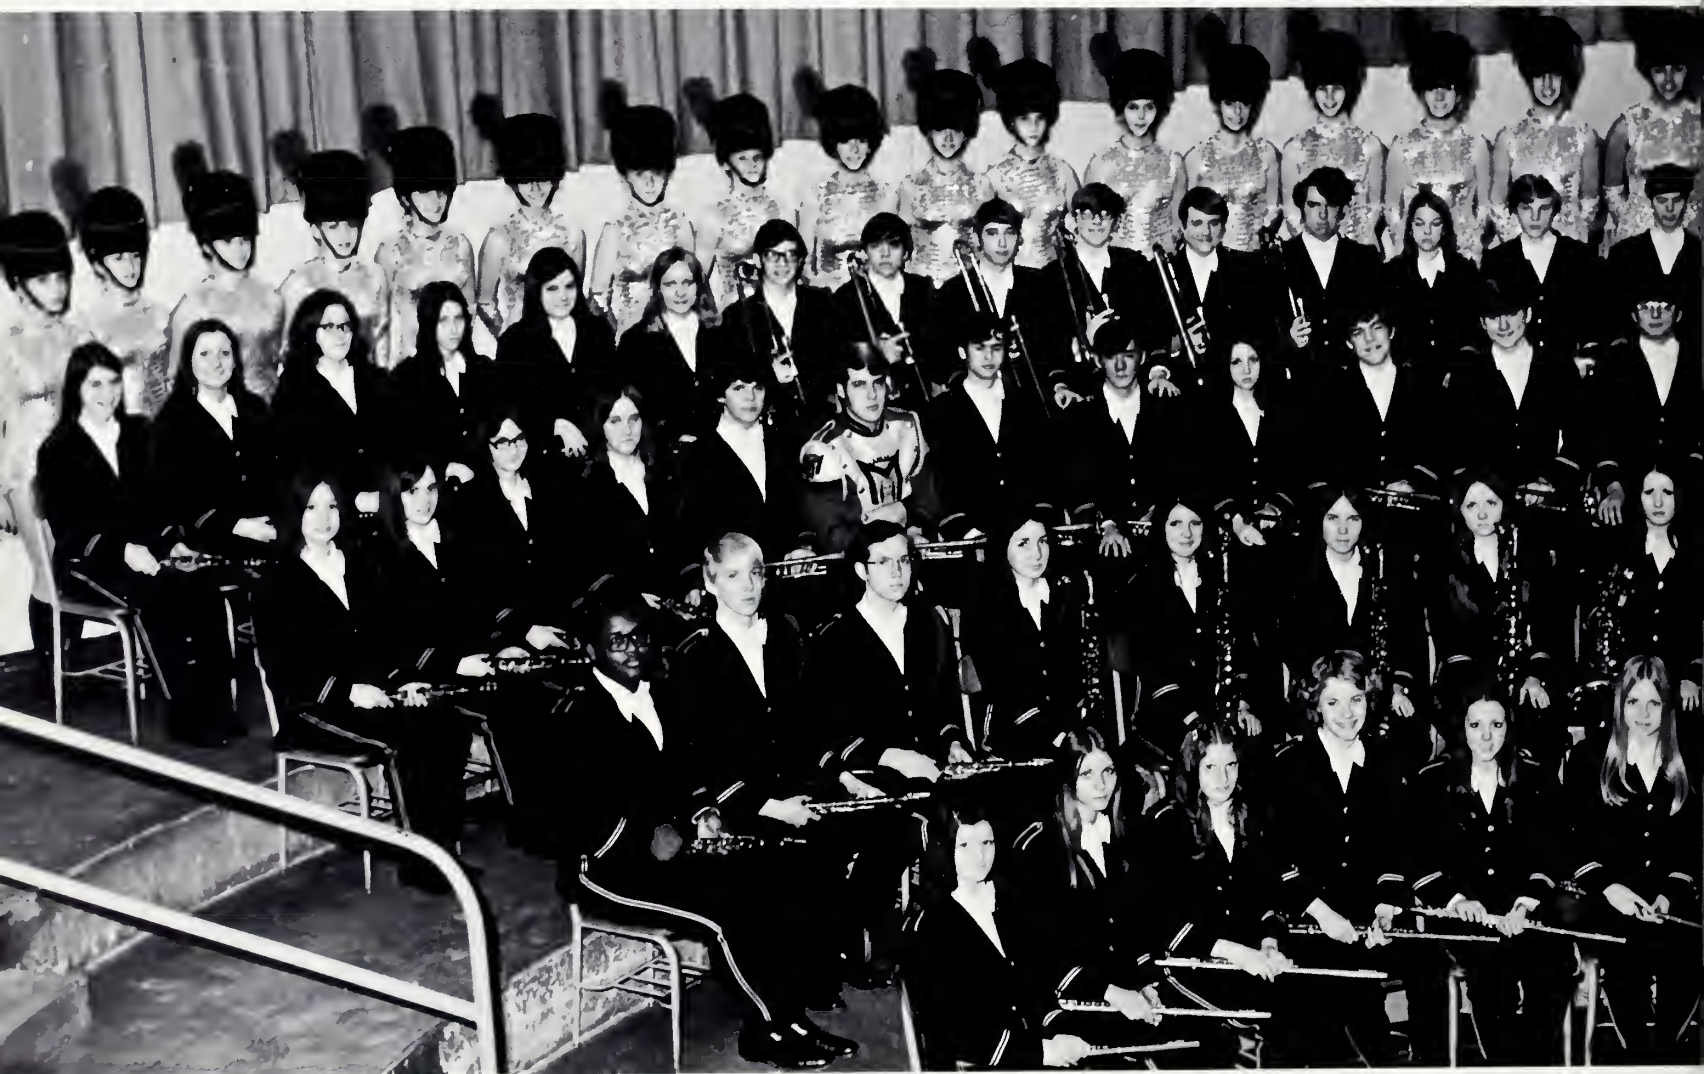

The Glee Club, which many girls strove to make, made its annual appearance at Lafayette Square, singing Christmas Carols, adding to the Christmas shopping fun.

In March, the Band and Glee Club combined to present the Band-Glee Club Concert, one of the best musical programs performed during the year. Later in the spring, the Glee Club sang at the All-City Glee Club Festival where they performed for and watched the other ten city high schools sing. This gave them a chance to compare their techniques and performance with others and to benefit from this.

Measuring the ability of select groups and individuals, the Solo and Ensemble Contest gave both the contestants and their teachers an idea of areas needing help.

For the final performance of the year, the Band and Glee Club joined the other members of the Music Department to produce the May Festival in the gymnasium.

BOOSTER

Fifty-ninth Year No. 10. Emmerich Manual High School, Indianapolis, Indiana 46225 Jan. 18, 1973

A brand new BOOSTER — that was the goal for the 1972-73 year.

A change from letterpress to off-set printing provided editors and staff members with a chance to reintroduce the use of cartoons and sketches — a practice that had been discontinued because of rising expenses.

News Focus, a news column for brief news stories, made its debut in October. The column was later cited by the Newspaper Fund as being "an example of brief and attractive news presentation."

Innovations

A two weeks' session at Indiana University High School Journalism Institute planted the "seeds of change" for BOOSTER Editor-in-Chief Kathy Wakefield.

The BOOSTER was going to look different! With that thought, Kathy and Publications Advisors Mrs. Jane Gable and Mr. Philip Ross got to work on changing the format at the beginning of the year.

A new nameplate, more modern and bolder than ever before, and boxed items helped to create that new, "totally different" look.

Kay Newton, Page 2 editor, Roger Carroll, sports editor, and Diann Newport, Page 4 editor, worked with Publications staffers trying to get the best possible news coverage for all Manualites.

The News Bureau, headed by Senior Tim Hebble, endeavored to show the community what was going on at Manual. Sending stories and pictures the Star, News, and Spotlight kept Tim and other News Bureau reporters busy.

Photographers David McAllister Marshall Wingler, Greg Hollis, Tony Smith, and Mark Terrell spent many hours taking, developing, and printing pictures.

IVIAN Staff Works to Create

The 1973 IVIAN is a creative attempt at telling the year's story. The book was developed with a continuous line theme to tie the whole book together and to keep the story of the year moving. "I think it's really a different book when compared to other books we've had," said Marnie Maxwell, editor.

Plans for the yearbook were made during the yearbook session of the High School Journalism Institute.

The IVIAN switched companies this year, changing from letterpress to offset printing. But with the change came new copy deadlines. So, staffers were busy from September through March writing and fitting copy and taking pictures. Though everyone got yelled at occasionally by Marnie or her assistant, Karen O'Connor, because deadlines were pressing down, the staff got along remarkably well, and all deadlines were met — almost on time.

Invariably, deadline times were hectic with pictures often still needing to be taken and copy written. But, the relief felt after each deadline was met was great.

"We tried more modern-style layouts throughout the book to go with the colorful opening section," explained Editor Marnie. "We think it's a really good book," said Karen after the last deadline.

Service Clubs Help Manual, Surrounding Area

Clubs such as Key Club, Tri-Hi-Y and Y-Teens work to benefit needy folks in Manual and the community.

The Key Club again fed several families at Christmas. By placing gift-wrapped boxes for collecting canned goods around the school and in home rooms, the club was able to put together several baskets of food for needy families. To each basket, they added a ham or turkey.

In February, the Key Club sponsored a rummage sale in the school cafeteria. There, they sold everything from the usual rummage sale items to an antique stove. Benefits went toward expenses for the state convention at French Lick, May 5-6, which some 20 members attended.

The Key Club also finished building the baseball dugout and worked with other Southside clubs to clean up Pleasant Run Creek.

The Tri-Hi-Y and Y-Teens, both girls' clubs, also did much in the way of community service.

In October, the Tri-Hi-Y turned a Fountain Square Girls' Club into a haunted house. They decorated the rooms with suspended ghosts, goblins, and bats to provide the eerie atmosphere.

For Valentine's Day, they made valentine placemats to give to the Altenheim, a nursing home. And, in February, around Sectional time, they conducted their annual sale of red-and-white derbies which many people sported that weekend.

"Speak out, sisters, for peace, justice, and dignity for all people" was chosen as the theme for the Y-Teens summer conference on racism at Syracuse, Indiana. The conference was open to any senior high school girls and was well-attended by Manual's Club. During the year, the Y-Teens helped in nursing homes, reading and talking to patients.

Art, Language Clubs Provide Cultural Insights

Art and language clubs all provided cultural outlets to students.

In March, Art Club members journeyed to Chicago on a field trip. An important stop during their stay was the Art Institute, which houses paintings from many different periods, including modern and pop art. Various art teachers demonstrated art in different media, including water color and acrylics.

Why do people join Art Club? "Because I like it — I'm enrolled in art, but it's my hobby, too," one member explained.

The French Club visited the Indianapolis Museum of Art to hear a talk on French art by Madame Helen Minor, a French teacher. "The pictures were good but I couldn't understand a word she said — it was all in French," lamented one freshman. The Club almost didn't get into the museum because it was closed, but a guard let them in when he found out who the group was.

French Club members also enjoyed a dinner at the home of Linda May. The main course was canard a l'orange (duck in orange sauce). The meal also featured homemade rolls, tarts, and pies baked by French Teacher David Phillips.

The Spanish Club celebrated Christmas with its annual fiesta. Every one enjoyed Mexican and Spanish food with an American touch — punch.

Lynn Janke and Steve Nix each spoke to the club about their summers in Mexico and Spain, respectively. Also, student teacher Miss Doris Wagner showed souvenirs she purchased during her stay in Spain.

The Latin Club celebrated Saturnalia, a Roman feast which falls near Christmas, as their Christmas party. At the club's Valentine's party, Cupid, god of love, was honored, and new officers were installed. To close the year, the club had a "pitch-in" at the home of Mrs. Audrey Cronkhite, sponsor.

Judoka, Bowlers, Lettermen Win Sports Honors

Sweeping the floor at halftime during basketball season is only one of the many jobs that lettermen perform during the year. Mr. Ray Schultz, sponsor and himself a Manual Letterman, explained that the club was mainly organized to develop pride in being a letterman and to aid the athletic program.

Every year the lettermen help out in the Homecoming program by being escort drivers for the King and Queen candidates.

The club raised money this year by setting up a booth at the Pow Wow. They closed their year with their annual picnic.

For those persons interested in learning the basic techniques of self-defense, Mr. Stephen Sharpee sponsored a Judo Club after school during spring semester.

"The club is planned for students interested in developing the sport of Judo," commented Mr. Sharpee, who instructs. This year twenty-six Manualites, including both boys and girls, took part in the weekly activities.

This year Manual featured a Judo team of eight members. In a tournament at Roncalli, four judoka placed in the top positions. The tournament included separate boys' and girls' divisions.

The Manual bowling club, under the sponsorship of Mr. Kenneth Freeman, left Manual every Monday after ninth period for the Sport Bowl. The bowlers formed teams and bowled for high averages. Trophies were awarded at a banquet.

Manual athletic teams made headlines many times with individual and team victories. Number one tennis player Kurt Hedegard was a sectional finalist, and Roger Carroll was the fastest cross country man in the city. The football team balanced out with a 5-5 season, but had an all-city team member, Royce Allen. When only three games into the basketball season Manual had the only unbeaten city team, while last year's city champion wrestling team again won Many laurels. Altogether, we had athletic teams to be proud of, and we showed our enthusiasm at many of the contests.

Ellis Leads Team to 5-5 Season Finish

Beating Northwest 14-6 in the last game of the season, the 1972 Manual Varsity Football team "fired up" to even their season record at 5-5. Eddie Owens, scat back, led the team in season scoring, massing a total of 68 points. Royce Allen, end, was also instrumental in leading the 'Skins to their victories.

Quarterback Norman Leonard passed the team to four victories in the last five games.

Senior standouts — Mike Grider, Rick Watkins, Bill McDaniel, and Jeff and Joe Farley — helped to anchor strong offensive and defensive lines.

Because the team worked together as a unit, no players were named to the All-City Team. Eddie Owens was honorable mention halfback, though.

The Redskin Reserve Football team captured only three contests out of their nine-game schedule. Although led by a defense that was near perfect, the offensive team was not able to put enough points on the board.

Opposing teams found that they could not run away from the Reserves. Most of the losses were decided by only a few points.

Halfback Dean Stegemoller and Fullback Earl Bowers were two of the top ground gainers for the Junior Varsity team.

Bob Stubbs, Jeff Bunnell, Joe McHugh, and Dave McDaniel plugged the holes on defense in order to stop the opposition.

Reserve Quarterback Mark Campbell is expected to step into a Varsity position next year. Mark, who played both Varsity and Reserve this year, led the team in its three victories.

Key wins during the season were against Broad Ripple, Columbus and Manual's longtime Southside rival, Southport.

The Frosh finished the year with a four wins — five losses record. The first year men were led by Quarterback Brett Andrews.

Jim White and Vern Webb, backs, led the team in scoring. Strong offensive and defensive lines were the keys to victory for Coach Gerald Root's beginners.

Roger Carroll

Roger Carroll, a name that has become synonymous around Manual with Cross Country, was one of the brightspots in an otherwise disappointing season for the Varsity Harriers.

Roger, who lettered for three consecutive years while running Varsity, finally captured the goal he had set his sights on. For the first time in fifteen years a Manual runner — Roger — won the city title.

injuries, Russ Finley ran second man. RIGHT — Improving in every race, Sophomore Keith Smith leads the Reserve team.

Proves 'Run Out' for Harriers

Throughout the season, Roger ran against the best runners in Marion County and beat them. The only runner in Indianapolis and the surrounding areas who could beat Roger was Roy Bengé from Warren Central. Roger won all the dual meets and invitational Manual entered except for the four meets when he finished second to Bengé.

Roger and Russ Finley, number two man throughout the season, led the rest of the pack to an 8-5 season finish.

Les Estes, who was expected to be a top reserve runner, was the season's surprise. He turned out to be the number four man on the Varsity team.

Freshman MVP, Kent Whitley, captured most frosh meets and set a Freshman record. Coach Pike will welcome him and other fast frosh to the Varsity squad next fall.

Of the four Varsity sports played in the spring, Tennis and Golf receive less than an equal share of the publicity. This is true even though Manual finished with players in both sports distinguishing themselves in city and sectional.

Herbie Taylor, who was medalist in most dual meets, led a 4-7 team to 12th place in city competition. Herbie, shooting in the low forties during the season, placed in sectional competition and advanced to the regional.

No. 1 man Kurt Hedegard led the young tennis team to a 6-4 season and a seventh place finish in sectional play. Kurt placed second in the sectional singles, losing only to Howe's Mark Thomas, 6-2, 6-4.

Pace 'Swingers'

Due to a new IHSAA ruling allowing all matches to be played only in the fall, the racketmen had a busy schedule. One of the advantages to the new ruling was that the weather was generally better; there was only one rainout during the season.

Owens, Watness Keep Wrestling to Final 'Draw'

Varsity Wrestlers, coached by Veteran Jack Foster, compiled one of the best seasons ever. The Matmen pulled off a fourth place in the City Tourney, won the Mooresville Invitational, placed second in both the Sectional and Regional, and ripped off ninth place in the State Finals. An excellent 11-2 dual-meet regular-season slate was also recorded by the Redskins as they went on the warpath.

Individuals carried the team in many tournaments. Eddie Owens accumulated an amazing record of 30 consecutive wins before he lost in his last match of the State Finals in an overtime. These victories included titles of City, Sectional, and Regional Champs.

Bob Watness also journeyed to the State Finals and fought his way to third-place. He destroyed all his competitors in the Sectional and Regional on his way to earning the bronze medal at State level.

The "hard-luck wrestler" of the year was Pasto Shockley, who zipped undefeated through all the dual meets. Misfortune stepped in, however, during every tournament, as Shockley consistently settled for a second place, and never won a coveted first.

Senior Matmen Royce Allen, Ed Johnston, Bill McDaniel, and Dave Baumann all compiled winning records for the year to aid in the success of the Varsity Squad.

Underclassmen also figured prominently in the winnings of the Redskins. Super-juniors Rommell Smith and Larry Vaughn showed their might throughout the season. Smith took the titles of City and Sectional Champs and finished undefeated in dual meets.

The Reserve Wrestlers also posted a winning season. Little 98 pounder Jack Spaulding won the City and is expected to be a great asset to next year's team.

'Giant Killers' Fall to 10-11 on Hardwood

After the first two weeks of the 1972-73 Basketball season, Manual was termed the team to beat. The Redskins were the City's only undefeated team.

The "Giant Killers," a name given to the 'Skins by Sports Writer Harry Rinier after they had knocked off Cathedral and Northwest, were ranked in the top five in City play. The Varsity team then slumped to a 4-8 record, winning only one game of their next seven encounters.

Four seniors, Ron Goad, Don Goad, Norman Leonard, and Kurt Hedegard and Sophomore Derrick Johnson started most games, but Coach Fred Belser found he could call on any member of the bench to come in and deliver a varsity performance any night, providing "social security" for the coach.

Seven players throughout the year shared scoring honors, with Sophomore Ernie Hill getting the season high, 27, in the game against Howe. The scoring was so balanced throughout the season that not one Redskin was in the City's top twenty scorers. Ernie Hill, with two years of Varsity play to go, found his range toward the end of the season, firing through on successive nights of 12, 14, and 27 points.

Derrick Johnson and Kurt Hedegard played the roles as the team's leaders. Derrick's fine outside shooting kept the Attucks Tigers at bay during the first quarter of City Tourney play. He also, personally finished off last year's City Champs, Arlington, with a thirty-foot jump shot at the buzzer. Kurt could often be called on to carry the scoring load, scoring in the teens when needed. Norman Leonard and the Goad Brothers made up a shorter than average front line, but all three got their share of the rebounds.

Junior Varsity, Freshmen Teams Both Enjoy Winning Seasons

The 1972-73 Redskin Junior Varsity basketball team produced a big winning season by taking 15 of 21 games. Manual knocked off several powerful teams such as Arlington, Shortridge, Northwest, and Howe. The JV squad won two games in the City Tourney before losing to Cathedral.

One of the high spots of the season came when the Manual team scored 62 points on the way to a routing Warren Central's Warriors.

Statistics for individual players, showed that Junior Darol Davie led the Redskins in fieldgoal percentage as 65 percent of his shots went in the bucket.

The Manual Frosh also enjoyed a victorious season by posting a 14-5 record which included a seven-game winning streak after the City Tourney, in January.

The big game of the season, when Manual beat Washington, the City Champions, was an overtime game. After trailing by 16 points in the last quarter, the Frosh won.

The Frosh also knocked off our arch-rivals from Southport twice this year in two close battles.

Manual finished third in the Pike Invitational Tourney after losing to Pike in the opening game.

Manual had several consistent seniors including Jim Hall, city shot put champ. The Redskins also possessed a strong nucleus of underclassmen. Among these were six juniors who led Manual to a third place sectional finish in a field of twenty-three teams.

The ovalmen finished sixth in city competition. Royce Allen was city champion, sectional champ, regional winner, and fourth in the state in the low hurdles. Royce also captured a second-place high-hurdle finish in the sectional.

The half-mile relay team of Allen, Mark Shives, John Meehan, and Eddie Owens finished third in the sectional, setting a Manual school record. Meehan and Luther Rush captured third and fourth places in the long jump.

Junior Roger Carroll, running fourth in the city meet, set a school record. Junior Eddie Owens also finished third in the 100-yard dash at the city meet.

Rick Gabbard Places on All-City Team

The Redskin Varsity Baseball team jumped to a fast start early in the season but soon slacked off. Manual lost the first game of the season to Ritter but came back to win the next eight, knocking off such powers as Arlington, Ben Davis, and Franklin Central. Manual's eight-win string was snapped by visiting Chatard who handed the Redskins a 7-2 defeat.

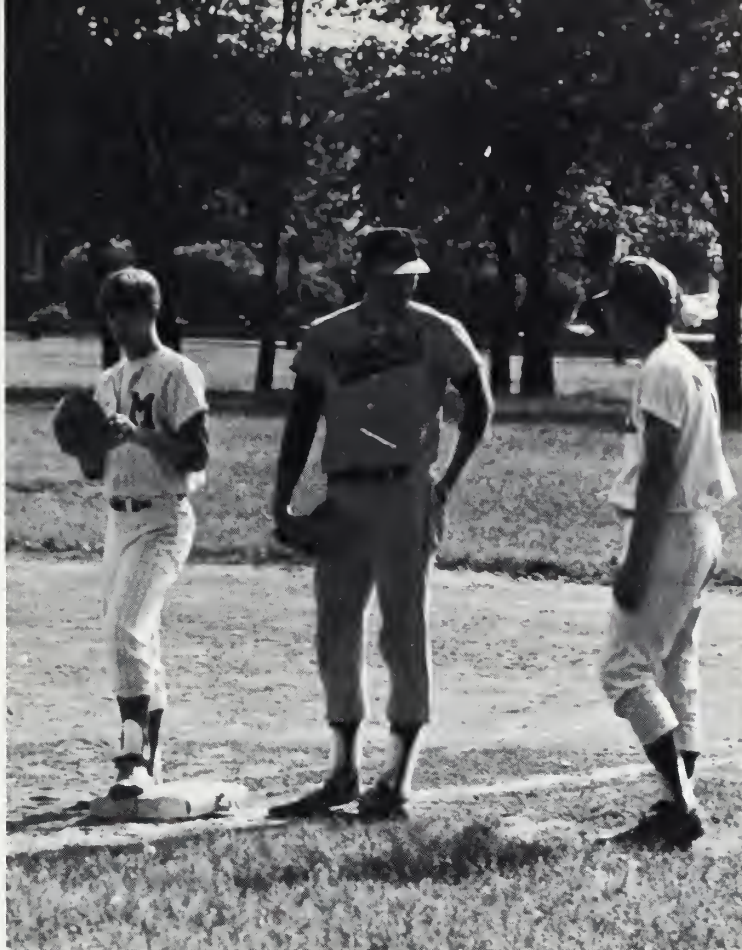

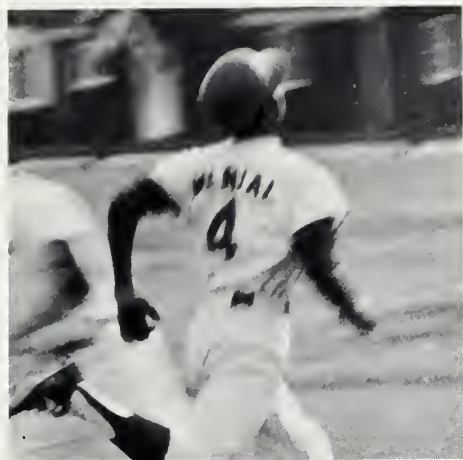

Manual played two double-headers: the first, the season opener, against Ritter and the other against Bloomington University.

Three hitters batting over .400 paced the Redskin team. They were Seniors Bob Mack, hitting .453, Jeff Hammond, hitting .400, and Junior Rich Gabbard, batting .447. The pitching staff, led by Norman Leonard, compiled a 14-10 season record. Leonard pitched an 8-1 season, Rick Gabbard had a 5-3 record, and Mike Ford a 2-6 record. Herb Clark pitched and won one game for the Redskins.

Outfielder Rick Gabbard represented Manual on the all-city first team. Senior third baseman Bob Mack received an honorable mention.

Cheerleaders Spark Enthusiasm with Signs, Cheers

"Being a Varsity cheerleader takes a lot of time and practice. It's great, though, when you're out in front of the crowd," commented Cheerleader Captain Anne Maschmeyer.

Hours of hard practice and planning after school went into the cheerleaders' performances at football and basketball games. The six girls on each squad worked diligently making posters, decorating team locker rooms, and boosting players' spirits.

Throughout the year, they not only practiced effective spirit-raising ideas and rules of the sports, but also learned responsibility and good grooming.

Both the Varsity and Reserve squads enjoyed five days of camp at Anderson College last summer. New cheers, chants, pom-pom routines, and a better understanding of cheerleaders' jobs were offered at the workshop. Every night after supper, there were cheering contests between squads. The best squads received ribbons. Getting to know each other better proved important to the Manual girls.

In addition to the regular cheerleaders, there were eight Wrestling Greeters. In their four-year existence, these spirit-boosters have created enthusiasm in wrestlers and spectators at meets.

Supreme Court Rules 'For' Girls; GAA Teams 'Keep on Playing'

Monday, November 27, was a big day for all women libbers. The Indiana Supreme Court, in a 3-2 decision voted to allow girls to participate with boys in non-contact sports. The ruling stipulated that if the school already had a girls' team in a non-contact sport, the girls would not be able to compete on the boys' team.

Manual's Girls Athletic Association already had girls' track and basketball teams. These squads, along with volleyballers, continued in their competition with GAA teams from other high schools.

Practice time was again a problem, since the girls took second place under the boys in using the gym. The Garfield Park Community Center was utilized for volleyball practice and some games.

The basketball team played an eleven-game season, and competed in an invitational tourney in March. Three players with ankle injuries, which occurred in successive games, kept the team from full strength.

Three R's Prove Mainly Addin' and Subtractin'

Schedule changes and "population" adjustments put Manual off to a slow start this year.

Because of a School Board ruling to bus students from School 44 to Manual and their later reversing that decision, nobody was really sure how many persons would actually attend. So, class schedules were prepared several times for a ten-period day (from 8 am — 3:40 pm) with five lunch periods — the first at 9:30.

Once school began, though, fewer students enrolled than anticipated. So, after two weeks of school, nine teachers were transferred from Manual to other schools where they were needed. Classes that had belonged to them were "killed" and these students were added to other classes.

School was halted temporarily because of a city-wide teacher strike in October. (See pg. 16.)

After these problems were ironed out, school progressed normally. Happily, second semester we reverted to the old nine-period day with four lunches.

Gary Mills Wields Gavel for Class of '73

Realizing that you are playing your last high school ball game or performing in your last Redskin Revue — that's what being a senior really is. As seniors, we can remember when we were underclassmen and looked to the upperclassmen as "supermen." But, now we know that seniors really are not so special as we once thought — actually most of us feel no different than when we were freshmen.

Our final year began with the move to Senior Home Room and election of class officers. These events were followed by a postponement of Senior Day to October 30 because of the teacher strike.

Throughout the year, Seniors remained active in all school clubs.

'Our' year closed, traditionally with Senior Day, Vespers, Commencement, and the Senior Prom.

As the Year reached an end, we all asked ourselves: "Four years: what have we accomplished?" All Were able to answer either "Much," or "Little." No matter what the answer, though, we all agreed that four years really do go by quickly.

RIGHT — Senior Royce Allen is congratulated by Mayor Richard G. Lugar for being chosen for the All-City Football Team. Royce and other members of the All-City and All-County teams attended a banquet at the mayor's office and received a Key to the City.

Juniors 'Take Over' and Prepare for Seniority

Being a junior — what did it mean? It meant; receiving the special distinction of being an upper-classman, taking U.S. History, voting for class officers for the first time, sponsoring the Christmas tree in the main hall, having a special day the class could call its own, writing term papers, and attending the junior prom.

As upperclassmen, the juniors took their place "over" the underclassmen and prepared themselves for their oncoming senior year.

The juniors, members of the class of '74, elected their leaders on September 29. The results saw Tom Pinner as president, John Masengale as vice-president, Jane Ackerman as secretary, and Benita Strait as treasurer.

Members of the Junior Committee were Sydina Ayres, Mike Natalie, and Donna Thompson. Decisions for the class were made by the officers at regularly-scheduled meetings. The committee attended many of these and assisted the officers in their duties.

Keeping with Manual tradition, the juniors helped set up and decorate the Christmas tree. This year a new artificial tree was purchased, since fire laws prohibited a real tree. Trimmed in gold, it added Christmas spirit.

March 6, Junior Day, gave the members of the class a special day to dress in their "finest." The red and white carnations worn by the juniors identified these "honored" students and served as "tickets" to the junior party, after school. Here, the Top Ten Juniors were named. Extra flowers were used to decorate the various offices around the school.

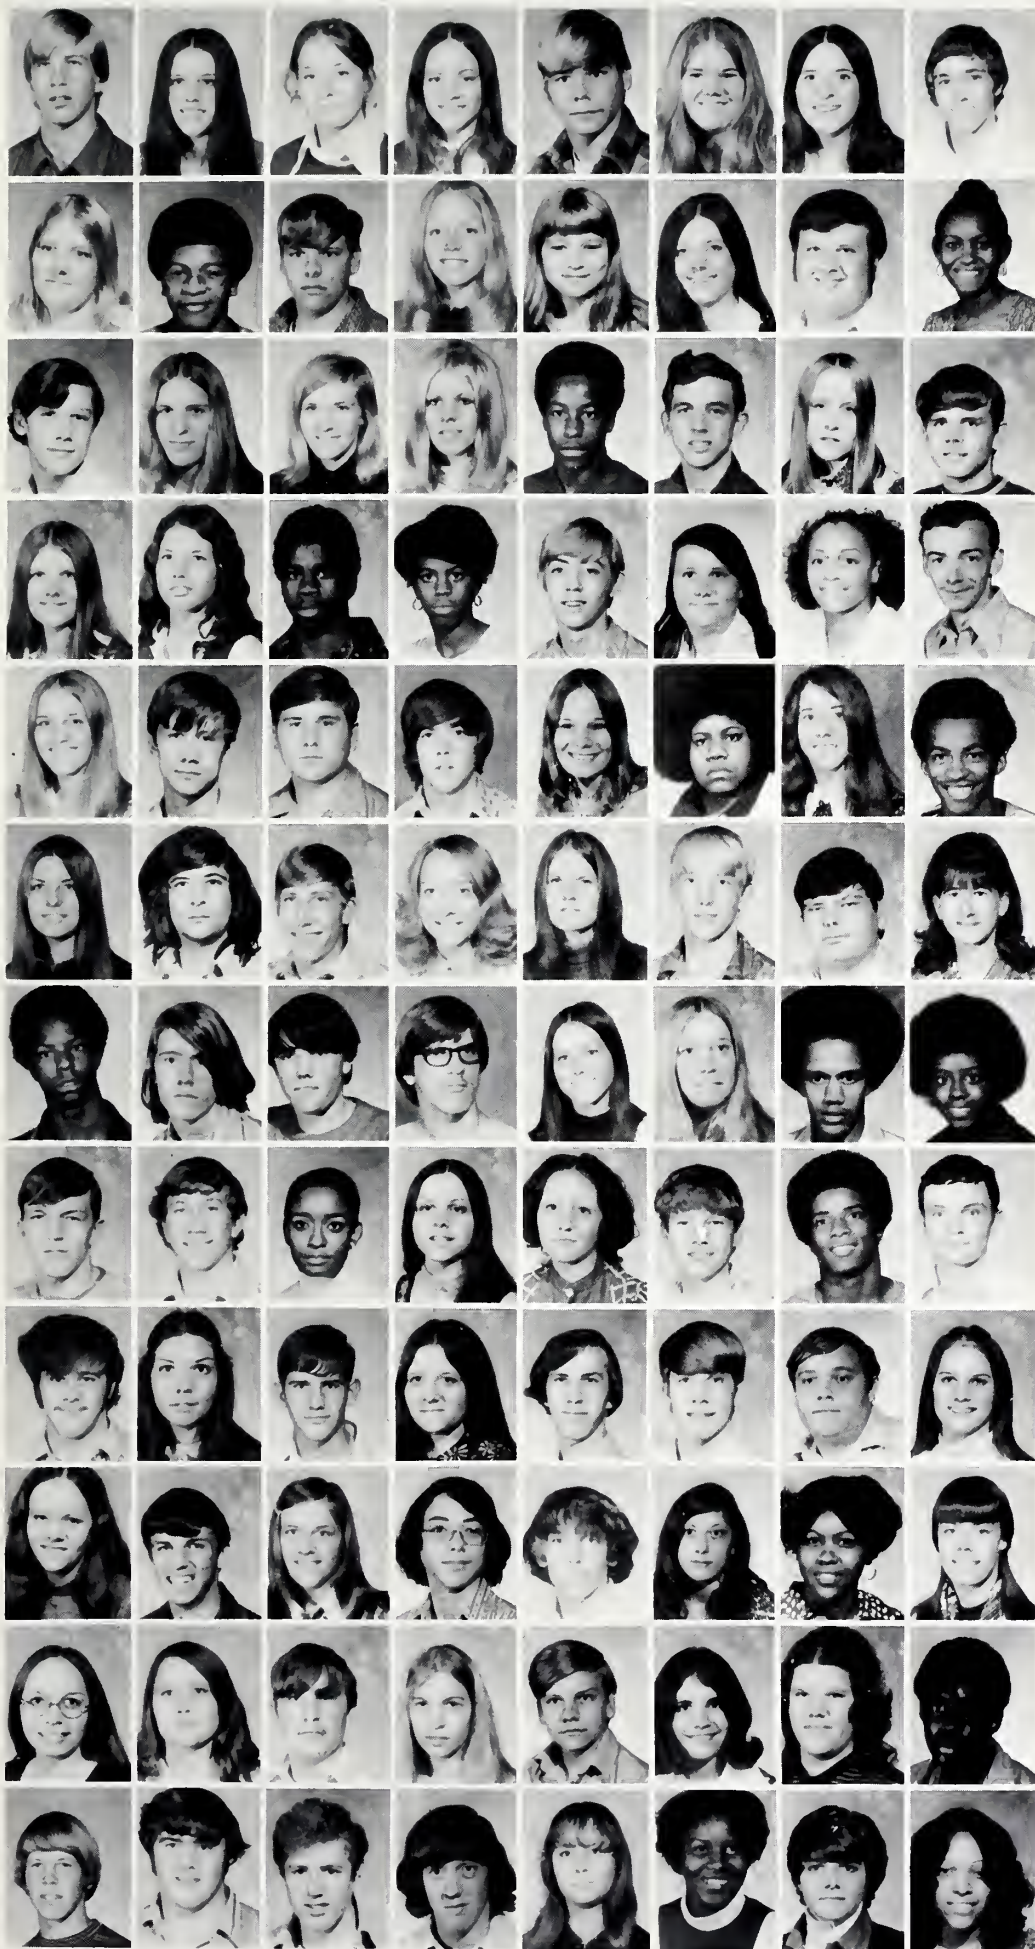

The Junior Prom was enjoyed May 12 at the Indiana University Medical Center. All juniors had the opportunity to submit a theme idea for the prom. The winner of this contest received five dollars during the prom festivities.

He and many other juniors helped to put both the Ivan and the Booster to press on time. RIGHT — Junior class officers, Treasurer Benita Strait, Vice-President John Masengale, President Tom Pinner, and Secretary Jane Ackerman gather in Class Sponsor Willard Henderson's office for a meeting. These four planned the junior activities which occurred throughout the year.

"We can live without our friends,
But not without our neighbors."

— Thomas Fuller

The Manual community consists of not only the building and the people in it, but also the people outside the building — people who are connected to the Mañual population through business and industry. These people provide jobs and goods for many of the Manual inhabitants and their families. Without them and their services, it would indeed be hard to exist.
